(8) Study methods may be different for individual study courses. When using different methods, it is not considered a separate study programme. Different methods can be used to different extents for individual compulsory and compulsory optional subjects. The teaching method or the share of individual methods is listed in the syllabus of the course. The educational methods used must correspond to the nature of a specific course. In the case of distance and/or combined methods, it must be stated for which parts of the course and to what extent the individual teaching methods will be used.

(9) Full-time and part-time form of study uses the same methods in carrying out the study programme. If it is not possible to use the same methods, possible differences in carrying out the study programme in full-time and part-time form of study cannot have negative influence on the results of education.

Article 12

Academic year and its organization

(1) Academic year begins on 1 September of the current year and ends on 31 August of the following year.

(2) Study in one academic year at TUKE and its faculties is divided into two semesters (winter and summer semester).

(3) Bachelor's study, Master's study and Master of Science study begins in the first semester of the corresponding academic year. Doctoral study may also begin in the second semester of the academic year.

(4) Academic Calendar for the academic year is approved by the Academic Senate of TUKE or faculty.

Article 13

Credit system

(1) Organization of all levels and forms of university study at TUKE is based on a credit system. Credit system allows assessing a student's workload during the study of the study programme by means of credits. Credits are numeric values assigned to respective courses and characterize the amount of work necessary for acquisition of the prescribed study results.

(2) Each accredited study programme has a given recommended curriculum (RC), which determines standard workload of a student during studies. Standard workload of a student is expressed in terms of the number of

- a) 60 credits for the whole academic year, 30 credits per semester. If it is:
 1. a first-level study programme, a second level study programme, or a study programme combining a first-level and a second-level study programme, irrespective of the form of study; or
 2. a third-level study programme in the full-time form of study.
- b) a maximum of 48 credits, depending on the standard length of the study programme concerned and the number of credits needed for its completion, in the case of a third-level study programme in the part-time form of study.

(3) A student who studies in compliance with the recommended curriculum, i.e., at standard pace, can duly complete his/her studies within the standard length of the study set for the particular study programme (Article 51 (4)(h) of the Act and Article 2 (6)(h) of these rules and regulations). Student, who does not exceed the standard length of study of study programme, studies at TUKE for free, and the obligation to pay tuition fee to TUKE under Article 92 (6), or Article 113 (10) does not apply to him/her.

(4) Student, who for various reasons fails to comply with the recommended curriculum and exceeds the prescribed standard length of study of the study programme, is obliged to pay annual tuition fee to TUKE for each additional (even started) year of study under Article 92 (6), or Article 113a (10) of the Act.

(5) Study of the study programme in a full-time form of study shall not exceed its standard length by more than two years. Study of a study programme in a part-time form of study shall not exceed its standard length by more than three years (Article 65 (2) of the Act). If a student does not complete his/her studies in the prescribed period, his/her studies will be completed in accordance with provision of Article 66 (1b) of the Act and the date of the study completion is the end of the academic year in which the student was supposed to complete his/her higher education (Article 66 (2b) of the Act).

(6) Student obtains credits after successful completion of the course. Credits for a particular course can be awarded only once in the course of study of a particular study programme.

(7) Credits obtained for completion of individual courses of the given study programme are cumulated. One of the conditions for continuation in the study is obtaining the necessary sum of credits under Article 19 of these rules and regulations.

(8) Transfer of credits is obtaining of credits by completing a part of the study at other faculty of TUKE, or at other university in the Slovak Republic or at a university abroad.

(9) Completion of the part of the study at other university within academic mobility (Article 58a of the Act) is formally ensured especially by:

- a) application for the exchange study (Annex. 2 of Decree No 614/2002 Coll. on Credit System of Study),
- b) the Learning Agreement (Annex. 3 of Decree No 614/2002 Coll. on Credit System of Study),
- c) transcript of study results (Annex. 4 of Decree No 614/2002 Coll. on Credit System of Study).

(10) The Learning Agreement is an agreement between the student, TUKE or faculty as the home university and host university before the student commences the studies at host university.

(11) Courses completed by the student at the host university are recognized by TUKE or faculty on the basis of transcript of study results, which the host university draws up for the student at the end of his/her study. The transcript becomes a part of the student's personal study documentation maintained by TUKE or faculty.

(12) Provisions of this Article apply to the third level of study accordingly.

Article 14

Courses of the study programme and curriculum

(1) A study programme is a set of courses and rules (specific definition in Article 2 (4) of these rules and regulations) devised in such a way, that successful completion of the required set of courses while complying with the given rules enables the student to acquire higher education. Article 16

Completion of courses in Bachelor's, Master's and Master of Science study

(1) Student successfully completes the course, if he/she fulfils the necessary conditions, demonstrates the required knowledge and skills at the study course assessment and thereby is awarded the set number of credits.

(2) If the student does not successfully complete the selected course, he/she can re-select the course one more time in accordance with Article 15 (6 – 11) of these rules and regulations. In case of re-selection of the course, student is obliged to fulfil all conditions specified for the successful completion of the course.

(3) Courses are carried out by one or more organized forms of educational activities, which are mainly lectures, seminars, exercises, consulting, self-study, project work, studio work, laboratory work, internships, excursions, professional experience, workshops, final thesis, state examinations and combinations thereof.

(4) Except lectures, the students' participation in all forms of educational activities is mandatory. Deciding on mandatory or recommended participation of the student on lectures is the responsibility of the person providing the course.

(5) For the assessment of knowledge and skills that students acquired, the continuous and final assessment of study results are used. In case of unsuccessful assessment, the student has a right to be reassessed merely once.

(6) Continuous assessment is carried out during the teaching period of the semester; its forms are listed in the syllabus (for example, written assignment, test, semester project, semester paper, essay, presentation).

(7) Final assessment and overall result of the course are carried out after the teaching period of the semester in form of credit test, graded credit test, examination, or state examination.

(8) Results, which student achieved within the study of the course in Bachelor's, Master's and Master of Science study programme, are assessed by six classification grades:

| Marking | | Total percentage |
|------------|--------------|------------------|
| By letters | In words | |
| A | Excellent | 91-100 % |
| B | very good | 81-90 % |
| C | Good | 71-80 % |
| D | Satisfactory | 61-70 % |
| E | Sufficient | 51-60 % |
| FX | Insufficient | 0-50 % |

(9) Student completes the course and is awarded credits, if his/her results were assessed with any of the classification grades from A to E.

(10) Student can obtain credits for the successful completion of the particular course only once in the course of study of a particular study programme.

(12) A course with a specific role in the study programme is a compulsory course “Final thesis“ (hereinafter referred to as “FT“). FT course is distinguished from other courses in the following points:

- a) it consists of drawing up of the final thesis in the prescribed form and its defense,
- b) continuous assessment of the FT course is the opinion of the supervisor after submission of the final thesis to the University Library of TUKE, which is not included into the overall assessment of the course “Final thesis“,
- c) the final assessment of the FT course is the assessment of final thesis defense. This assessment is also the overall assessment of the FT course.

d) the overall assessment of the FT course is decided by the board for state examination taking into account the written opinions of the supervisor and the opponent(s), as well as based on the course of the final thesis defense,

e) in case of unsuccessful defense, in accordance with (2) of this Article, student can reselect the course, while the board indicates in the state examination record, if the student would defend the submitted final thesis in its original form, if he/she has to remake the final thesis on originally given topic, if he/she has to write the final thesis on another topic and so on.

(13) Weighted study average (Vp) is used to evaluate the student's study results in a determined period. It is calculated by using the formula: $Vp = \Sigma(P_i K_i) / \Sigma K_i$, in which P_i is a classification grade expressed as a total percentage gain from the i -th course and K_i is the number of credits for the i -th course. Weighted study average Vp is rounded to whole per cents, and average grade for the assessed period of study Z can be matched to it. Z is calculated using the formula: $Z = (249 - 2Vp)/49$. Average grade of the assessed period Z is rounded to 2 decimal places.

(14) In drawing up waiting lists for merit scholarships and accommodation in student dormitories, all the courses of the respective study programme selected for the assessed period of study, including the courses graded by Fx are counted into the weighted study average Vp .

(15) The weighted study average Vp for the entire study period, which is stated in the Diploma Supplement, includes only the successfully completed courses of the study programme and recognizes courses.

Article 17

Credit test and graded credit tests

(1) Credits for credit test and graded credit test are granted after completion of the prescribed range of educational activities within the course on the basis of meeting the required conditions (mainly continuous assessment and attendance), which were announced to students at the beginning of the semester.

(2) Graded credit test is a credit test, in which meeting the requirements is assessed by classification grade under Article 16 (8) of these rules and regulations. Graded credits test is used for assessment mainly of project works, studio works, and laboratory works or practical tutorials in the courses, which do not implement assessment by examination.

(3) Credits for credit test are granted no later than by the end of the second week of the examination period of the semester, in which the course was realized. Credits for graded credit test are granted no later than by the end of the examination period of the semester in which the course was realized.

In justified cases (for example, a teacher's long-term absence), the credit test or graded credit test can be granted by the person providing the course, head of department or the teacher authorized by him/her.

(5) If the course ends with credit test or graded credit test, authorized teacher records overall (final) course assessment (hereinafter „OCA“) into the information system of TUKE.

(6) Teacher is responsible for the entry of the results into the information system of TUKE.

(7) The teacher is obliged to enter the OCA into the information system of TUKE within 48 hours (2 working days) after fulfilment of conditions for granting credits to the student.

(8) If the course ends with credit test and examination, credit test is granted by the teacher in a way that the achieved percentage of the student under Article 18 (4, 5) of these rules and regulations will be entered into the information system of TUKE.

Article 18

Examinations

(1) Examination verifies student's knowledge of the particular course and his/her ability to creatively apply the theoretical knowledge and practical skills gained by the study of the particular course. The form and content of the examination must be consistent with the syllabus and the lecturer acquaints the students with them at the beginning of the semester. In times of crisis situation (Article 108e of the Act), the exam can be performed in the form of a videoconference or other means of information and communication technology without the physical presence of the student, if the technical conditions of TUKE or the faculty allow it.

(2) Examinations are implemented in written, verbal, and verbal on the basis of written preparation, practical or combined forms.

(3) If the course is completed only by examination, continuous assessment of the study during the semester is not performed. Examination may be taken by each student; results of the examination is assessed by a grade under Article 16 (8) of these rules and regulations. If the student gains at least 51 per cent, he/she completes the course, and the examiner enters the OCA (result of the examination) into the information system of TUKE.

(4) Each course which ends with credit test and examination, has a determined rate, at which the 100% of the course are distributed between

a) credit test – continuous assessment of the course on the basis of results of continuous assessments during the semester, and

b) examination – final assessment of the course.

This distribution is within competence of person providing the respective course, while the set maximum gain for the credit test has to be between 20% and 40%, in case of state examination courses (under Article 20 (1b) of these Study Rules and Regulations) between 0% and 40%.

(5) Examination in the courses, which end with credit test and examination, can be passed only by the student who was granted the credit test for the particular course under Article 17 (1, 3) of these rules and regulations. Condition for granting the credit test is to gain more than a half of the per cents allocated for the credit test.

(7) Student completes the course and acquires respective number of credits if he/she gains more than a half of the per cents allocated for the credit test and also for the examination from the particular course.

(8) The examiner records the OCA into the information system of TUKE.

(9) The examiner is responsible for the recording of the OCA into the information system of TUKE.

(10) The examiner is obliged to enter the OCA into the information system of TUKE within 48 hours (2 working days) after the examination is performed. Each student has a right to be informed about the assessment of his/her examination, about the mistakes and the proper solution.

(11) Examination is performed by the end of the examination period of the semester in which the particular course was taught.

(12) Dates for examination in the midterm assessment week and during the examination period are proposed by the examiner in accordance with the instructions of the Rector or the Dean. In justified cases, the Rector or the Dean can, at the request of the head of department providing the course, allow to perform examinations outside the midterm assessment week and examination period.

(13) Upon block scheduling of the course, it is possible to perform the examination after granting the credits for credit test even during the semester. The date of the examination is set by the examiner.

(14) The examiner is obliged to publish the dates and places of examinations, as well as methods of registration for examinations via information system of TUKE at least two weeks before the end of the given semester.

(15) Offer of a sufficient number of examination dates and their compliance is the responsibility of the head of the department providing the course. In the case of illness, or absence of the examiner for other serious and justified reasons, the head of the department providing the course is obliged to provide a substitute. Dates of examination are offered in such number, that each student would be able to participate in the examination of this course at least twice.

(16) Students can register for the available date of examination or withdraw from the examination date by 12 p.m. of the day, which is before the examination date. If the student does not attend the examination at the date which he/she registered for, the examination date ceases, with the exception of the absence justified by the examiner in case of reasons recognized as valid within 24 hours (1 working day).

(17) Student is usually examined by lecturers, in justified cases by other teachers of the particular course, who were appointed in writing by the head of the department providing the course.

(19) Provably discovered copying, use of illicit devices and the like during continuous or final assessment of study is addressed by the supervising teacher on the spot, by proposing to the examiner to give the student 0% for the assessment. If by proved copying the student violates the legal regulations of TUKE/faculty, he/she commits a disciplinary offense under Article 72 of the Act.

(20) Student or the examiner can in justified cases ask the Rector or the Dean for board examination. Board examination is not considered as another date of the examination. The committee has at least four members appointed by the Dean on a proposal of the head of department providing the course. One of the members of the committee is the original examiner, as well as the student representative with an advisory vote.

(21) Department shall ensure storing of records of the written examinations and their components in accordance with the applicable regulations. In the case of an examination carried out in accordance with (1) of this Article, it shall store the written record of the examination.

(22) Student can request recognition of the course successfully completed at the faculty of TUKE or other university. Syllabus of the particular completed course is included in the request. The granting of the credits in the number specified by the study programme is decided by the Rector or the Dean, after consultation with the head of the department providing the course for the given study programme.

(23) The provision of this Article does not apply for the compulsory course “Final thesis“.
